NO clutter, NO out-dated information,
best of all NO COST!

BIBLIOTECA uses the latest technology to store and display a comprehensive library of building industry suppliers' catalogues online. This assists you in accessing product information faster and easier than ever. Our eCatalogues are far more efficient and up-to-date than printed catalogues, with information presented in a user friendly and intuitive way. All eCatalogues are accessed in an organized and consistent manner making it simple to move from one to another. Saving you the step of hopping from website to website and re-learning each suppliers methods of presentation. Our digital eCatalogues can also be downloaded as PDF files providing you with the option to copy and paste.

Our system allows you to search out the suppliers (current) local technical representatives contact information.

What's an eCatalogue?

It is simply a digital book. For specifiers, an eCatalogue has all the benefits of a familiar paper catalogue, with the convenience of being available electronically 24/7. The digital eCatalogues can also be downloaded as PDF files so that specifiers can copy and paste pictures and text straight into their specification documents and share information with their associates.

BECOME PART OF THE EVOLUTION!

We want to make your job easier!

Digital Libraries are here, the transition of hard copy to digital is happening right now. Just as our industry evolved from hand drafting to computer drafting, libraries are now evolving from hardcopy to virtual. BIBLIOTECA will be, with your collaboration the most comprehensive and intuitive library management system. We plan to evolve as our industry and it's professionals require. Our services will evolve as a direct result of your feedback. Built into our process will be a short questionnaire that pops up quarterly to confirm we are moving in the correct direction. If you wish to submit suggestions on your own, please do so!

BIBLIOTECA's Mission Statement

We have committed to collaboratively develop innovative solutions to meet our clients' needs, while promoting a positive work environment and maintaining stakeholder value.
